Mayor visits NECC to discuss Haverhill's advancement and areas of improvement

Today, Mayor James J. Fiorentini spoke to a class of students at Northern Essex Community College about the Mayor's plans to improve the lives of Haverhill residents, as well as developing the tourist aspect to invite newcomers to the city.

The Mayor received many questions regarding the safety of the City, what plans were being made to maintain its cleanliness, and the installment of new and exciting opportunities in Haverhill. In addition, Mayor Fiorentini discussed with students both past and future projects to enliven the City, in an effort to make it a destination where people can come to dine, stroll the downtown area and enjoy the history and culture that Haverhill has to offer.

Mayor Fiorentini stated:

“Northern Essex Community College is a place filled with many talented students. Many of the students work full-time jobs while attending classes. Today, I met with a group of students who genuinely cared about improving their lives, as well as the City's downtown area, businesses and homes.”
